An evening honoring

Tim Marcovy

*founder of Case Western Reserve University Crew,
co-founder Western Reserve Rowing Association,
WRRF Safety Director for Life husband, father and author of some of the most creative expletives ever heard on the Cuyahoga
(don't let the pristine picture above fool you)*

Saturday, September 20, 2003

AGENDA

1. Surprise Marcovy right out of his Size 14 sneakers. (Mary says they need to go after a season on the Cuyahoga anyways).
2. Discover the answers to the following questions:
  - a. How did the Sweet J get its name?
  - b. Why was an oar sticking straight up in Lane 6 at Governors Cup?
  - c. What happened to the passenger door of the Highway Patrol car that stopped a certain driver lacking lights on his boats?
  - d. Why does Charles Mill Lake make Marcovy crave bright-orange clothing?
  - e. What is the name of the movie that defines Marcovy's coaching philosophy? (Hint: It includes the quote: "This man hates. That is good. Hate keeps a man alive...")
  - f. What is the best thing to hold in front of Marcovy to get him to row harder and faster? (No, it's not a carrot.)
  - g. Why does Tim Denihan cringe - - and Caroline Hoepf cackle - - whenever someone says "crinkle, crinkle"?
3. Find out if Paula Coakley really can find four words to rhyme with Marcovy in her tribute song.

AGENDA, continued

(come on, have you ever seen a rowing meeting last only half a page?)

4. Eat (lots)
5. Drink
6. Talk about rowing
7. Watch a slideshow about rowing
8. Watch a video about rowing
9. Talk about Marcovy and rowing
10. Talk about Marcovy's family and rowing
11. Talk about the dozens of strangers Marcovy has brought into rowing through his passion for the sport.
12. Watch Marcovy's face match the color of the original WRRR shirts.
13. See him, for once, speechless (maybe).
14. Eat more
15. Drink more
16. Talk about rowing some more.
17. Adjourn.
